DGIN

VanEck Digital India ETF

VanEck Digital India ETF (DGIN) gives investors access to companies involved in and supporting the digitization of India.

Mobile-First Economy

Mobile phone usage is a proxy for digitization because of the access to the internet it provides. More than 96% of internet users in India access the web primarily through mobile, compared to only half in the U.S., China and U.K.<sup>1</sup>

Why DGIN?

- Access local companies across industries and sectors positioned to be leaders in India's digital future
- Digital adoption in India is among the fastest globally
- New IPOs and increased foreign investment in India's digital economy are reshaping India's capital markets

Digitization is Having Broad Impacts

The "Net Asset Value" (NAV) of a VanEck Exchange Traded Fund (ETF) is determined at the close of each business day, and represents the dollar value of one share of the fund; it is calculated by taking the total assets of the fund, subtracting total liabilities, and dividing by the total number of shares outstanding. The NAV is not necessarily the same as the ETF's intraday trading value. VanEck ETF investors should not expect to buy or sell shares at NAV.

An investment in the Fund may be subject to risks which include, but are not limited to, special risk considerations of investing in Indian issuers, equity securities, small- and medium-capitalization companies, communication services sector, information technology sector, emerging market issuers, foreign securities, foreign currency, depository receipts, cash transactions, market, operational, index tracking, authorized participant concentration, no guarantee of active trading market, trading issues, passive management, fund shares trading, premium/discount and liquidity of fund shares, non-diversified and index-related concentration risks, all of which may adversely affect the Fund. Emerging market issuers and foreign securities may be subject to securities markets, political and economic, investment and repatriation restrictions, different rules and regulations, less publicly available financial information, foreign currency and exchange rates, operational and settlement, and corporate and securities laws risks. Small- and medium capitalization companies may be subject to elevated risks.
